It was an info session for summer session students via Zoom, the host would provide an overview of what students might expect studying at UC Berkeley. There was a Q&A session for students to type in the questions they have, and the host would address the questions shortly.

It lasts from May to August.

I am unsure about the cos for the language training. If you are SFU student, you are not required to take a English language course, but you are welcome to take any language courses the host institution offers upon your interest.

You can enroll into any undergraduate courses as you wanted, there might be 2 same classes offered in the same session. It is a pretty easy procedure. Therefore, you have a bigger chance to get into the course you wish.

Journalism

English.

Everyone respects each other and the learning environment.

I had taken their Journalism courses which enables me to learn some news writing skills, photojournalism, and social media marketing. Besides, I was able to step out of my comfort zone and made new friends and new culture.
