

DAVID ALEXANDER COLVILLE

Born in Ontario, David Alexander Colville grew up in the teaching and studied Fine Arts at Mount Allison University teaching there for 17 years. During the war, he was official artist for the Canadian Army. His works have been exhibited widely in Italy, West Germany, Great Britain, United States and at the 1968 Canadian Biennial. He has been a member of the Canada Council, and is an Officer of the Order of Canada. He has been a Visiting Artist at the University of California and in Berlin, West Germany. Many famous galleries and museums throughout the world are proud to have his art as part of their collections. However, each of us has his art as part of our own collections for Alex Colville designed Canada's Centennial Coins issued in 1967.

Alex Colville is a Canadian artist whose "magic realism" has become a vehicle for thought and contemplation. Through his windows of order and determined calm,