

Francis Reginald Scott is a man of law and a man of letters who has combined in his heritage and career the polarities of his native land. He was born in Quebec brought law to poetry and a sense of poetry to law.

His long and distinguished career as Professor and later Dean of Law at