

It is my privilege, Madam Chancellor, to present Peter Gzowski, a man whose life's work defines the struggle to know ourselves as Canadians. Broadcaster, editor and writer, his often controversial journalism gives fresh credence to John Milton's words:

"We are all in the gutter, but not all of us are looking at the stars."

arguing, much writing, many opinions; for opinion in good men is but knowledge in the making."

Our drive to understand the elusive Canadian identity is stimulated by daily
