3. Brief outline of the role of the agency.

Securiguard established its first contract in 1974, securing the mining town of Cassiar, acting as an extension of management focusing on customer service. Our original trade name was World Investigation, Security Division. World Investigation commenced operations in 1971 under the direction of S.J. Kernaghan, the owner of Kernaghan Adjusters*, who had a strong passion for investigation. We soon expanded further into the mining industry and opened up in Vancouver in 1977 when we were re-branded Securiguard.

Throughout our history, we have been known for innovation: introducing the first high visibility yellow jacket (before the police), the first bicycle patrol and the first private security company to become ISO certified.

Being recognized as a leader in the corporate security industry, Securiguard was the first private security company to be selected to replace the RCMP at a Class 1 Airport, at the time, the only one in Canada. Partly due to the success of our implementation, other airport authorities have Today Securiguard is Western Canada's leading provider of corporate security through a focus on listening, creating value and doing what we say. We care for our people, community and environment.

No security clearance needed.

Students are provided with a 2 hour elementary risk assessment course to teach them the basics, and also hands on training for internal investigations.

Expenses incurred while on the job will be paid by corporate credit card within reasonable limits.
