

- A society which has achieved a good distribution of wealth a non-state actors outside the UN to promote human rights abroad. Working from a longer list of desirable actions, they identified the following three as the most compelling for Canada at this time:

- Promote democracy and the rule of law with an emphasis on fair labour standards
- Advance the rights of women globally (fundamental pillar of human rights)
- Enshrine basic health care as a human right for

