

Genesis, Geology, and Geomorphology of Four Major Holocene Landslide Deposits in Meager Creek Valley, Southwestern, BC

Sean Todd

This study was conducted in the Meager Creek valley located 150 kilometres north of Vancouver, British Columbia. Slopes bordering Meager Creek valley are highly unstable and have experienced numerous mass movements since deglaciation.