

Faculty of Health Sciences MPH Competencies

The program ensures that all MPH graduates attain 5 generalist concentration competencies and every student is assessed on each generalist concentration competency at least one over the course of the program. These competencies are informed by the Faculty of Health Science's (FHS) mission and values and are distinctive to the FHS MPH program. As

2. Identify theories and frameworks that explain constructions of gender and sex, race and ethnicity, social class, and other markers of social location with attention to their intersections, historical and contemporary contexts, and relationships to health equity.
3. Identify, define, and critically analyze historical, current and emerging issues in global health and their impacts on population health
4. Examine major global environmental health issues and discuss implications of one's positionality for research and practice addressing health inequities

CEPH MPH Foundational Competencies

The program ensures that all MPH graduates attain 22 foundational competencies and every student is assessed on each foundational competency at least one over the course of the program. These competencies are informed by the traditional public health core knowledge areas, (biostatistics, epidemiology, social and behavioral sciences, health services administration and environmental health sciences), as well as

Policy in Public Health

12. Discuss multiple dimensions of the policy-making process, including the roles of ethics and evidence
13. Propose strategies to identify stakeholders and build coalitions and partnerships for influencing public health outcomes
14. Advocate for political, social or economic policies and programs that will improve health in diverse populations
15. Evaluate policies for their impact on public health and health equity

Leadership

16. Apply principles of leadership, governance and management, which include creating a vision, empowering others, fostering collaboration and guiding decision making
17. Apply negotiation and mediation skills to address organizational or community challenges

Comogengesenges
