Meeting time & location: Mon 9:30 – 11:00; AQ 5029

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course explores feminist approaches to research in the social sciences and humanities. We will examine the ways in which feminist theory and practice have shaped research in areas such as gender, sexuality, and social justice. The course will focus on the work of feminist scholars and activists, and will explore the ways in which feminist research has challenged traditional academic disciplines and methods. We will also examine the ways in which feminist research has been used to inform social policy and practice.

Readings include: Women's Studies: A Reader, Gender Trouble, Sexual Politics, Women and the Word, Home, Who Comes After the Subject?, On the Subject of Sex, Gender and the Politics of Power, Women's Studies: A Reader, Gender Trouble, Sexual Politics, Women and the Word, Home, Who Comes After the Subject?, On the Subject of Sex, Gender and the Politics of Power.
