OFFICE HOUR: TBA

COURSE TIME AND LOCATION: Wednesdays & Fridays, 10:30 – 12:20; AQ 5050

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This discussion-based seminar examines how racial and sexual norms, expectations, and logics converge in everyday ways and places. We will focus on how racial and sexual logics come together in the spaces we interact with daily (i.e. home, school, work), to the broader places that impact our lives (i.e. empire, nation, the urban). By centering current critiques of queer theory and politics by Indigenous queer, Two-Spirit and feminist, Black, and queer of colour scholars, the course investigates how hetero- and homo- normativity are contoured by processes and practices of racialization.
