

PHILOSOPHY 344

PHILOSOPHY OF LANGUAGE

SPRING SEMESTER 1987

P. HANSON

REQUIRED TEXT:

Philosophy of Language, P. Martinich

1975

111

111

philosophy of language, which has been characterized by scepticism about such traditional linguistic theories as meaning, communication, and the nature of non-literal uses of speech act theory, communication

semantic level, the nature of non-literal uses of speech act theory, indexicality, and the interplay between