

REVISED: Feb 22, 2024

TENURE-TRACK POSITION IN CLINICAL FORENSIC PSYCHOLOGY

The Department of Psychology

members have law degrees in addition to doctoral degrees in psychology.

An average of 25 graduate students each year are members of the Law and Forensic Psychology Area, enrolled in the MA or PhD programs. About 2/3 of those students were admitted to the Department's Clinical Psychology Program and about 1/3 were admitted to the Psychology Graduate Program, which provides training in applied, basic, and theoretical research in psychology.

Read more about the Law and Forensic Psychology area at

<

