Gaming grants are designed to fit the needs of a wide variety of not-for-profit organizations throughout British Columbia. Human and social services, arts and culture, sport, public safety, K-12 students' extra-curricular activities and capital projects — all these areas are supported through gaming grants to community organizations.

The table below provides an overview of gaming grants and the kinds of programs they support. Grant applicants will be notified whether their application was successful by the final notification date.

For more details about each type of grant, follow the links in the How to Apply & Related Resources \(guidelines, conditions, forms, etc.\) section near the bottom of this page.

Note:

Organizations that are re-applying for a Community Gaming Grant may be eligible to use the short application; see the "How to Apply" section on the Community Gaming Grants page for more information
