

Exchange Report, Lund University, Sweden

Spring 2016, I had a grateful opportunity participating in SFU Study Abroad Program at Lund University, Sweden. This experience has given me strength needed to be a successful individual. I am able to increase initiative adaptability to use in a working world. My semester at Lund University started in January 2016 until late May 2016.

Preparation for exchange

Before deciding on which university to attend, it is highly recommended that student do researches on courses being provided by the host university. I am lucky that Lund University were offering courses in marketing and entrepreneurship that would count towards my degree. However, I would really encourage everyone to take elective courses on exchange since it's a good way to learn about European cultures.

It is a must that students do not underestimate the coldness of Sweden. Every Canadian student came to Sweden with thought that it couldn't be as cold as Canada. BUT in the first couple weeks of January, the weather can be very brutal. Make sure that you bring thick socks, scarves, winter coat and snow boots! Since the semester is 6 month long, it is important to pack clothes for every season: Winter to Summer. The weather can go as low as -10c and up to 25c in May.

After arriving at Copenhagen airport, students will find signs that lead to train platform.

Please make sure that you get your passport and immigration documents (as needed) checked before boarding on the train. The train ride is about 30 minutes from Copenhagen to Lund Central Station.
