SSHRC introduced guidelines regarding subject matter eligibility for health-related research as of 2009. Applicants should consult the SSHRC website for full details. SFU/SSHRC Small Explore Grant proposals may be eligible if there is no intent to directly or indirectly impact health. Eligible SSHRC research may include, for example:

- comparative studies in which health is not the primary object of study (e.g., social/developmental constructs such as theory of mind in normal development and autism);
- use of physiological methods and/or approaches to improve learning, teaching and curriculum development, or to investigate social/cultural processes and behaviors;
- historical and/or archaeological research where there is no intent to influence health (e.g., biographies of health practitioners or health scientists; health and hygiene in ancient civilizations);
- economic or management analysis unrelated to improved health or health care (e.g., the impact of the health-care industry on national or local economies; the impact of epidemics on the profitability of insurance companies);
- cinematic or other artistic portrayals of illness in which health promotion is not a central aim; or
- religious and/or cultural research related to dietary or other practices (e.g., fasting, vegetarianism), in
